Wesleyan Guild's Christmas party

By MRS. EUBIE RIGGS

The Christmas party for the Wesleyan Service Guild was held Tuesday afternoon in the social hall of the church with Mrs. C. P. Brunson and Miss Sallie Riggs as hostesses.

There were sixteen members present. The devotional was given by Miss Sallie Riggs, after which gifts were distributed from a beautifully decorated Christmas tree. There is always a special interest in this party for this is the time when each member learns the identity of her Secret Sister for the year.

Delicious refreshments consisting of Russian tea, cookies and salted nuts were served by the hostesses. A social hour was enjoyed by the group during which the names of the Secret Sisters for the New Year were drawn.

Rockwell acquires assets of Porter-Cable Company

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—An agreement by Rockwell Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., to acquire the assets of the Porter-Cable Machine Company was completed Monday, December 5, following approval of Porter-Cable stockholders at a meeting in Syracuse, N. Y.

The agreement, signed by W. F. Rockwell Jr., president of Rockwell and DeAlain J. Ridings, chairman of the board of Porter-Cable, provides for the acquisition of the assets on the basis of seven shares of Rockwell stock for every 10 shares of Porter-Cable. There are 320,044 shares of Porter-Cable stock outstanding.

Porter-Cable is one of the nation's leading manufacturers of "portable" electric power tools, and Rockwell is well known for its complete line of "stationary" power tools for industry, schools and the home workshop. Porter-Cable will operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Rockwell.

According to industry sources the future of the 50-year-old portable power tool field is excellent. Industry sales have increased from $60 million in 1946 to more than $175 million this year. Total sales should reach $200 million in four years, more than four times the 1946 level and one-third of this year's pace.

Porter-Cable which, had a 20 per cent increase in sales and earnings last year, should more than keep pace with the industry growth pattern, Mr. Rockwell said.

Unusual Christmas customs of many far-away countries

Although the fact is not generally known, Christmas is relatively new on the American scene. Alabama was the first state to make Christmas a legal holiday — in 1836. Other states followed.

In the early days of America, the celebrating of Christmas was strictly forbidden. A law to that effect was passed in New England in 1659 and people not obeying it were fined or imprisoned. The stern Puritans believed that Christmas was a pagan holiday and ruled that Christmas was merely another ordinary working day. The Puritans loved work! Although their law prohibiting the celebration of Christmas was repealed in 1680, sectarian hostility to the holiday was strong for several years thereafter.

Much controversy surrounded Christmas in many lands for many years, owing to the fact it was thought by many, to be a pagan holiday. But Christmas came into its own during the Restoration in Europe and has since been pretty generally accepted.

Gift giving began in Rome during the Saturnalia, mainly the presenting of tokens of love to the poor by the rich, but the early Christians frowned upon the practice. Later Christians came to believe that the giving of presents on Christmas was but a natural expression of love and generosity to the poor and to their friends, acts commemorating the gifts of the Magi to the infant of Jesus.

The use of evergreens at Christmas are age-old traditions, largely because they were and are obvious symbols of enduring life.

The mistletoe we pin over doors at Christmas was held sacred by the Celtic Druids and by the Norsemans, for whom it was the holy and terrible plant that slew Balder, the Sun God. It was known as the plant of peace and was used in old Scandinavia to reconcile enemies.

Kissing under the mistletoe is strictly an English custom, dating back to the Tudor and Stuart reigns, when the English pucker and kissed at the slightest excuse.

Eggnog is the traditional Christmas refreshment in America today, but in old England it was lambdowol, a drink consisting of hot ale, sugar, spices, eggs and roasted apples, to which thick cream was sometimes added.

Santa Claus wears many different faces and comes in many strange manners in other lands. In olden times, he was a two-sided character, rewarding good and severely punishing evil. Even persons living now can remember the promise of a sackful of switches for naughty children. But now the punitive Santa is gone.

The traditional Southern Christmas dinner consisted of turkey stuffed with oyster dressing, a whole roast pig with an apple in its mouth, wild fowl, Irish and sweet potatoes, lima beans, rice, eggs bread, fruits and pound and sponge cake.

For many a Southerner, looking forward to Christmas, 1960 style, that menu would do very nicely indeed. Pass the oyster dressing!

2 members of Blue Devils Band in Honor Band

Two members of the Statesboro Blue Devils Band have been selected for the Honor Band in the High School Music Festival to be held in Athens on January 7th. Corde Donaldson, solo Clarinet and Band Captain, and John Wallace, Bassoonist and Drum Major, will attend. This band is selected from the best students from schools all over the state. This year, over half of the schools participating were able to send only one student, and Statesboro is one of the few which is sending two.

Carole will be attending this Festival for the third year, and has been chosen as one of the top players who will audition for first chair. Carole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil K. Donaldson, and is a Senior. John was also chosen to audition for first chair in the bassoon section, and will be attending for the first time this year. John is a Junior in high school, and is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Wallace.

The two students will spend all day Saturday in Athens, working under the direction of Bob Lowry, nationally famous Band Director, and will present a concert that night. Also on the concert will be the All-State Chorus and Orchestra, and the University of Georgia Dixie Redcoat Band, directed by Roger Daner. The public is invited to attend the concert free of charge. It will begin at 7:30 and will be held in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

A MESSAGE OF IMPORTANCE TO ALL FLUE-CURED TOBACCO GROWERS

By DR. C. H. ROGERS, Vice President and Director of Tobacco Research, Coker's Pedigreed Seed Co., Hartsville, S. C.

CHOOSE YOUR 1961 VARIETIES WITH CARE!

In disease areas you must plant resistant variety or risk losing your entire crop. There are many good tobaccos available and most of them have resistance to black shank and the wilts. Select one that has proven adapted to your area and shown by tests to be a high producer of cigarette leaf. Among these are Coker 316, Coker 187-Hicks, Coker 187, Coker 128 and Coker 156. These varieties have been developed in our nurseries, and tested over a wide area under severe disease conditions. Where disease is not a problem, Coker's improved Hicks Broadleaf, Coker's White Gold and others will give you good returns. Of course, if neighboring farms have black shank, you should plant one of our resistant varieties.

GOOD TOBACCO CROPS BEGIN AT THE PLANT BED

You should use an area of rich, well-drained soil, preferably with a southern exposure and protected on the north and northwest by windbreaks. Prepare enough beds for the acreage you'll have so that ample plants will be available for a good stand of uniform size plants in the field. You'll need 75-100 yards of bed for each acre of tobacco to be grown. Disc and thoroughly pulverize the soil, then apply about one pound of plant bed fertilizer per square yard of bed. Work this into the top three or four inches of soil and immediately treat with methyl bromide or other weed-seed control chemicals. Destroy all weeds growing around the beds by thorough discing or hilling. All beds should be left in the right condition for seeding.

Seed the beds at the rate of 1/2 to 1/4 ounce per 100 yards. After seeding, inspect the beds at least twice a week for the presence of pests. After the seeds sprout and the small plants begin to grow, it is good insurance to apply an insecticide such as a combination of 5% DDT and 1% parathion dust, at the equivalent in a spray. When leaves are about the size of a quarter and before blue mold and other foliage diseases appear, use fungicides such as forham, zineb or captan. Continue applications at about four-day intervals until time for transplanting.

We are confident that these practices will get your crop off to a good start. With your continued good management, Coker tobaccos will reward you with high yields of quality leaf and bring a good price at the sale.

NOTE: Coker's Tobacco Seed for 1961 will be in stock at all authorized Coker dealers next week. Pick up your seed early!

Looking several years from now

By ROY POWELL
County Agent

Let's look into what might be a typical scene several years from now.

A new business is opening up in a typical Georgia community. Management studies this community and found that it had a pleasant climate, adequate transportation facilities, and many desirable natural resources. So they decided to put a branch office in this community. They are now looking for workers, well educated young men.

A young man named Jim, who lives in this community decides to try to get a job at the new office. He has an interview with the employer. The employer tells him that they need men with a college education. Jim is turned down. He hasn't had this education. So, instead of Jim, the business hires someone from out-of-state who does have the right training.

This case is hypothetical, but it can become true. Will the fault be Jim's in this case? No. Last year, 32,869 students were enrolled in the various units of the University System of Georgia. By 1970 this number will swell to about 55,000. Without additional financial support for higher education in Georgia, your universities, colleges cannot continue to meet the increasing demands for higher education. There just will not be the facilities and faculty needed to adequately meet these needs. Many capable young men and women may not be able to obtain a higher education.

"Jim," the young man of our story, wanted to go to college, but there wasn't room for him. Don't hang sockets of outdoor lights on the wall. Collect your Christmas decorations. Lights sets that have frayed cords, faulty, ill-fitting sockets, or loose connections should not be used in decorating the tree, and car, should be taken not to the electric circuit.

Denmark News

By MRS. H. H. ZETTEROVER

The Denmark Sewing Club held their Annual Christmas Party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burned Fordham Thursday afternoon, December 15. Mrs. J. M. Lewis gave the devotional, then games and prize winning contests were enjoyed by all.

Average production per cow in the U. S. last summer was 6,438 pounds; 4,300 pounds in Georgia. Of the countries in Europe, the Netherlands ranked first with average cow production of 9,079 pounds. In Denmark, the average was 8,312 pounds; Belgium, 7,286; and West Germany, 7,286.

CHRISTMAS TREE SAFETY

The Christmas season for most of us has been a season of happy memories, but this might not be so. Many tragic fires are caused each Christmas season as a result of negligence in Christmas tree decoration. These fires are avoidable.

An important precaution is to use lights and cords bearing the Underwriter's Laboratories Label. This label means that the product has been manufactured under rigid safety regulations. Lights sets that have frayed cords, faulty, ill-fitting sockets, or loose connections should not be used in decorating the tree, and car, should be taken not to the electric circuit.

Ga. Power pays $6,121,734 in property taxes
Checks bringing the amount of the Georgia Power Company's property tax payments to $6,121,734 are being presented this week to municipal and county government officials, according to W. Tom Martin, District manager.

Mr. Martin reported the amount compares with a total of $5,883,400 paid by the company for its 1959 property taxes.

Of this sum, $3,047,142 goes into general county funds, $2,059,598 to school districts, $70,595 to cities and towns, and $47,335 to Georgia and adjoining states.

Earlier in the year, municipal partnership tax payments totaling $2,292,797 were paid by the company to the 392 cities, towns and communities in which the firm's partnership franchise agreement was in effect. Under this agreement, the company pays each municipality in which it operates three per cent of its gross revenue from the sale of electricity for residential and commercial use.

These municipal partnership tax payments were in addition to property tax payments.

Jaycees fill 'Empty Stockings' for 694 Bulloch Countians
Six hundred and ninety-four children and adults in 113 families in Bulloch County had a Merry Christmas because the young business men of Statesboro who call themselves "Jaycees," members of the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce, filled their Christmas stockings which would have otherwise been empty this Christmas.

Carroll Herrington, president of the Jaycees, states that the People of Statesboro and Bulloch County opened their hearts and storage places and filled their annual Empty Stocking Fund to overflowing.

The entire membership of the Jaycees pitched in and helped with the collection, sorting, and preparation for the distribution of the clothing, food, and toys on Wednesday and Thursday before Christmas. The cash which was contributed went to purchase a ten pound bag of flour which was included in every Christmas bag, and to purchase specific items which were known to be needed by certain families.

Under the direction of Miss Sara Hall, director of the Bulloch County Welfare Department, every bag was filled to fit the individual needs of each family served. The families were invited to come to the distribution center in Dr. Paul Franklin Sr.'s building on East Main Street to receive their Christmas bag.

Jim Sisson was chairman of the 1960 Empty Stock Fund. He was assisted by Smith Banks, Sam Brewster, Bucky Atkins and Marvin Copelan, together with the entire membership of the Jaycees.

Mr. Herrington, on behalf of the Jaycees says "Thanks a million" to all who contributed to the following organizations:
